

DOLLAR GOES FAR ON THE BEAUTIFUL ISLE OF MALLORCA

Purchasing Power of Dollar Better Than in U. S. Prior To The Depression

AN INNATE DIGNITY

Such Prevents Residents From Treating Americans As Suckers

Even a newspaperman wants to "get away from it all" once in awhile. And, recently, Kingsbury Smith, European general manager of International News Service and one of America's most famous foreign correspondents, did just that. He went to the Spanish Island of Mallorca in the Mediterranean Sea, and found a rare haven of peace and quiet. He tells about it in the following article, another in the COURIER's informal reports to the folks at home from American foreign correspondents in all parts of the world.

"MEMO FROM MALLORCA" By Kingsbury Smith (European General Manager, INS)

A dollar goes farther in the island of Mallorca today than in almost any holiday resort in Europe.

This ancient Spanish beauty spot, nestling in the sunlight shimmering blue waters of the western Mediterranean, gives the American more value for his money than he can get in France, Germany, Italy or any other accessible country in Europe. In fact, the purchasing power of the dollar is even better than it was in the United States before the days of the great depression.

For the equivalent of $6.50 per day on this island, one can get a comfortable room with a superb view of the sea, a bath and three good meals at the Hotel Mediterraneo. This is the best hotel in Palma. It rises like a gleaming white palace over the wide harbor of Mallorca's centuries-old capital.

BENSALEM GROUP DISCUSSES TAXES

Meeting Held at Home of Mrs. John Bakeoven Last Evening

QUOTE REASSESSMENT

EDDINGTON, Aug. 7 — In protest against alleged inequalities in the county assessment program, 25-30 residents of Bensalem township met last evening in the home of Mrs. John Bakeoven, Woodbine and Oak roads.

The meeting, which originated earlier yesterday in conversations among neighbors, was addressed by Raymond Wink, treasurer of the Bensalem Taxpayers Association. Local residents have complained that the reassessment project, which began four months ago, has far from equalized assessments on their properties.

Mrs. Mary Dalgity, Oak road near Woodbine, said that her four-room house, formerly assessed at $1400, had been reassessed at $1500, while a neighbor's seven-room home, formerly assessed at $2300, was hiked to $3150.

Mrs. Bakeoven reported that her Husband Trails Wife; He and Rival Battle

A Philadelphia husband who allegedly surprised his wife and another man in a Bucks county trailer camp was beaten by his alleged rival in a fist fight yesterday, police said.

Frank Miller, 50, of 963 Mather st., a truck driver, followed his wife, Frances, 41, to a trailer camp near Parkland, in Middletown township, according to Chief Howard Shook of the township police.

Shook said Miller drove up to the place and found his wife sitting on a chair outside the trailer, while the Millers' neighbor, Raymond McCay, 53, of 911 Mather st., was inside.

When Mrs. Miller saw her husband coming, Shook said, she ran inside the trailer and tried to lock the door, but Miller followed her and pushed the door in.

In the fight that followed, said the chief, McCay cut Miller on the face repeatedly with blows from his fists.

An attendant at the trailer park telephoned police, and Troopers John Fredericks and William Arner of the Langhorne barracks of the State Police arrived and stopped the fight.

On Miller's complaint, Shook brought McCay before Justice of the Peace F. Eugene Sergeant, of Middletown township, charged with assault and battery.

The suspect was held in $500 bail for Bucks County Court.

Award Given to Cornwells Firemen in Error Goes To Edgely Firemen

Plans for the 1953 Greater Lower Bucks Week's celebration were started last night at a meeting of the general committee held in the Elk's Home, Radcliffe street.

It was decided to hold meetings on the third Wednesday of every month with the first meeting being called for September 17th. The election of chairmen for the various committees and also the host community was deferred until the next meeting.

Many suggestions for next year's celebration were brought forth and the consensus of opinion was that the affair should be held in May or in the fall of the year when schools are in session.

Midouhas and Horace Schmidt, co-chairmen of this year's affair, thanked the members of the committees for their co-operation and as Midouhas put it "this year's celebration has left its mark with the people of Lower Bucks County." DELHAAS SCHOOL BOARD POSTPONES DECISION ON TEACHER SALARY BOOST; THREE NEW TEACHERS ARE ENGAGED

Books Are Purchased for Secondary School; Approval Given of Extending Junior High Program To Grade 11 for 1952-53 School Year

Should the teachers employed in the district under the jurisdiction of the Delhaas Joint School Board be granted a salary increase? The Delhaas Joint School Board still hadn't decided on an answer to this question at their regular August meeting at Delhaas School last night.

Nor could they decide with finality whether to employ school janitors on a full 52-week salary basis, with one week's sick leave, and two week's vacation with pay after five years' service.

The Joint Board did hire three new teachers however, and in addition awarded the contract for number 5 fuel oil, and purchased books for the secondary school from Bristol Borough.

Formal approval of extension of the Junior High School program to grade 11 for the year 1952-53 was received and the delay in construction of the Delhaas 4-room addition was discussed.

The Delhaas teachers request for a salary increase which was presented to the Board several months ago, was the first matter taken up after the routine matters of approving minutes and treasurer's report was given attention. Approximately 75 teachers will be affected by the Board's decision on the requested raise.

Discussion on the matter was postponed until the regular September meeting because the board felt there was a lack of specific evidence which might warrant either a positive or a negative decision.

A lack of positive knowledge on just what procedure to follow in the hiring on a 52-week basis of school janitors caused the postponement of a decision on this issue also.

The vacation-sick leave plan of one week vacation and one week sick leave for janitors with one year of employment to their credit, up to a maximum of two weeks vacation and one week sick leave after five years service, together with the plan to put these employees on a 52-week salary year received favorable comment, however no decision was made pending complete information concerning the janitor's requests.

Contracts employing three new teachers for the Delhaas School were signed. Henry C. Buckwald of Harrisburg, a graduate of Girard College

DECIDE TO HOLD CELEBRATION EACH YEAR FOR THE AREA

Greater Lower Bucks Week Committee Will Meet Monthly

PRIZES ARE PRESENTED

Award Given to Cornwells Firemen in Error Goes To Edgely Firemen

Plans for the 1953 Greater Lower Bucks Week's celebration were started last night at a meeting of the general committee held in the Elk's Home, Radcliffe street.

It was decided to hold meetings on the third Wednesday of every month with the first meeting being called for September 17th. The election of chairmen for the various committees and also the host community was deferred until the next meeting.

Stephen Midouhas appointed committees to visit the following communities and invite them to the September meeting: Yardley, Pennell, Langhorne Manor, Langhorne, Newtown, Newtown Township, Hulmeville, Middletown Township, and Lower Southampton Township.

Many suggestions for next year's celebration were brought forth and the consensus of opinion was that the affair should be held in May or in the fall of the year when schools are in session.

Midouhas and Horace Schmidt, co-chairmen of this year's affair, thanked the members of the committees for their co-operation and as Midouhas put it "this year's celebration has left its mark with the people of Lower Bucks County." Edward Sabol was secretary of the Greater Lower Bucks Week celebration which was sponsored jointly by the Bristol Chamber of Commerce.

DELHAAS SCHOOL BOARD POSTPONES DECISION ON TEACHER SALARY BOOST; THREE NEW TEACHERS ARE ENGAGED

Books Are Purchased for Secondary School; Approval Given of Extending Junior High Program To Grade 11 for 1952-53 School Year

Should the teachers employed in the district under the jurisdiction of the Delhaas Joint School Board be granted a salary increase? The Delhaas Joint School Board still hadn't decided on an answer to this question at their regular August meeting at Delhaas School last night.

Nor could they decide with finality whether to employ school janitors on a full 52-week salary basis, with one week's sick leave, and two week's vacation with pay after five years' service.

The Joint Board did hire three new teachers however, and in addition awarded the contract for number 5 fuel oil, and purchased books for the secondary school from Bristol Borough.

Formal approval of extension of the Junior High School program to grade 11 for the year 1952-53 was received and the delay in construction of the Delhaas 4-room addition was discussed.

The Delhaas teachers request for a salary increase which was presented to the Board several months ago, was the first matter taken up after the routine matters of approving minutes and treasurer's report was given attention. Approximately 75 teachers will be affected by the Board's decision on the requested raise.

Discussion on the matter was postponed until the regular September meeting because the board felt there was a lack of specific evidence which might warrant either a positive or a negative decision.

A lack of positive knowledge on just what procedure to follow in the hiring on a 52-week basis of school janitors caused the postponement of a decision on this issue also.

The vacation-sick leave plan of one week vacation and one week sick leave for janitors with one year of employment to their credit, up to a maximum of two weeks vacation and one week sick leave after five years' service, together with the plan to put these employees on a 52-week salary year received favorable comment, however no decision was made pending complete information concerning the janitors' requests.

Contracts employing three new teachers for the Delhaas School were signed.

HOW MUCH TIME?

The rash of flying saucers, which now appears to be a manifestation of the heat wave, has largely obscured some ominous news from Russia by way of American news agencies in London. Briefly, Russia is supposed to be on the verge of exploding the world's first H-bomb, which scientists estimate would have a destructive force 100 times more powerful than the largest atom bomb in existence.

A distillation of a mass of rumor, fact, and intelligence reports, indicates, according to the London story, that the Russians have almost a two-year lead on the United States in developing the H-bomb, thanks to the defections of the British scientists Fuchs and Pontecorvo. The reports also indicate that the commanding lead this country once held in the A-bomb race is now all but wiped out.

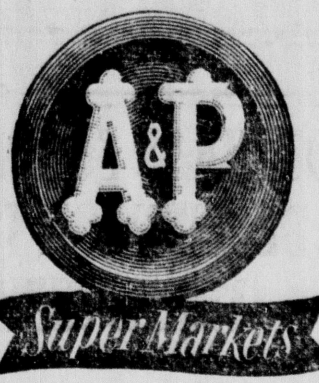

Intelligence reports say that Russia now has a minimum stockpile of 100 A-bombs plus another 500 smaller bombs which could be used tactically. She also has rocket artillery—projectiles built to carry atom warheads—radio active "gas", a ground to air anti-aircraft rocket, and a cosmic ray projector which can fuse the metal part of a plane at a range of 15 miles.

Reports such as these are open to good healthy skepticism, but they should not be underestimated. With the exception of the atomic weapons, it might be noted that Hitler's scientists had many of these weapons on drawing boards at the end of World War II. The Russians, who never indulged themselves to the point of a military letdown, could have gone on with development without losing a stride.

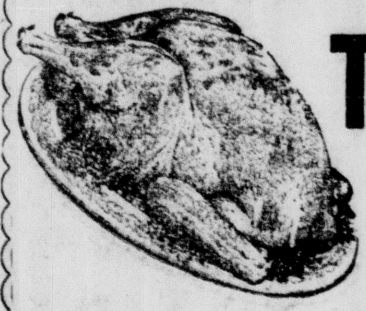

But perhaps the most worrisome report is news that Russia is working night and day on the development of six-engined jet bombers capable of carrying atomic weapons to any spot in this country, delivering them from a height of eight miles in any kind of weather, and returning to base. Russia's strategic bomber force at present is reportedly composed of about 1,000 four-engined bombers which are largely copies of U. S. B-29s and B-50s. But it is known that the Reds have been conducting air refueling experiments to increase the present range of these planes.

Some say television will kill national political conventions. Or vice versa.

ital, which is 3 1/2 hours by direct flight from Paris.

At some of the island's smaller hotels, such as the Cala D'Or, perched on the edge of a sandy-beached cove of crystal clear water, one can get a room, bath and three appetizing meals for $4.50 per day, or even as low as $3 for a small room without bath.

The drawback of these smaller hotels is that the sanitation is not always all that could be desired. But, generally, it is on a par with that of some of the moderate-priced tourist-type hotels in the big European cities.

In addition to the inexpensive and picturesque qualities of Mallorca, there is also far less tendency here to treat the American as a sucker to be soaked than elsewhere on the tourist trails of Europe. This apparent lack of greed is not because the country is prosperous. Spain is one of the poorest nations in Europe. Nor is it because the press of the Franco dictatorship is renowned for preaching pro-Americanism. It is due primarily to the proud dignity innate in the Spanish character.

Evidence of this can be found among the poorest, semi-literate toilers in out of the way places. For example, the car in which I was driving across the island from Cala D'Or to the popular play-town of Formentor blew a tire. It was a sun-scorched spot on a bumpy back road, beyond reach of the coolly caressing sea breezes.

A peasant, plodding in a wheat field, witnessed the exasperating predicament in which two American friends and my family found ourselves. He approached, bid us "Buenas Dias" (good day), and without further ado proceeded to help.

It seemed natural that a Spanish farmhand should wish to take advantage of an unexpected opportunity to earn a few pesetas. For half an hour he sweated in the sweltering sun, changing the tire, unjacking the car and restoring equipment and luggage to the rear compartment. When offered a tip, for his aid, the peasant smilingly shook his head and backed away. He was not being coy. He expected nothing. It required considerable persuasion to induce him to accept the folded bill thrust in his hand.

Spaniards have a reputation for disliking foreigners. Three weeks in Mallorca showed no signs that the allegation of this traditional trait is warranted. Not, at least, in respect to Americans.

The Spanish people are not as effusive as the French or Italians, but one is conscious of a deep sense of sincerity about their friendliness. Whether it be a shopkeeper in Palma, a fisherman in Farayo, or a peasant in LaPuebla, the attitude is politely pleasant.

One of the most outstanding impressions of a visit to this Spanish island is the apparent contentment of the people. In comparison with American living standards, they are poverty-stricken. A sternly authoritarian government denies them the political freedoms of the western conception of democracy. They live a drab, hard-working life.

Nevertheless, there is a serenity in the faces of the peasants, a calm composure in their demeanor which seems to reflect a tranquility of the soul. Nor are they devoid of the spirit of gaiety. The 20-year-old, comely, kitchen-maid in our hotel, who earns the equivalent of $1 per week plus board and keep, was singing most of her dish-washing day. At the village fiestas, there is a light abandon about the gay and graceful folk dances.

It made one wonder what constitutes contentment. For these people, it is not wealth. They have none, and little hope of ever acquiring any. It is not the creature comforts that an average American farmer takes for granted as necessities of life. Few peasant's dwellings have running water, much less bathrooms, refrigerators, radios or cars.

They till the soil in much the same primitive fashion that the Moorish conquerors of this island did 19 centuries ago. Their basic diet is bread, rice, black beans and fish. Once or twice a week they enjoy pork, seldom other meat. A laborer, such as a bricklayer, earns the equivalent of approximately 80 cents per day. This is barely sufficient for subsistence.

In this climate of virtually perpetual summer, clothing requirements are limited to gingham dresses for women, cotton trousers and shirts of men.

There is little political consciousness among the peasants. They show no interest in politics, prefer not to be bothered by such problems.

As for the possibility of war and the great power struggle between Soviet Russia and the western powers, there is apathy born of ignorance of the potential implications for them.

Mallorca was spared the ravages of the Civil War that swept the Spanish mainland 16 years ago. Today, the average Mallorquin ekes out a peaceful existence, oblivious to the anxieties of the restless, turbulent outside world.

Paul Voitz, low bidder, was awarded the contract for supplying number 5 fuel oil to Delhaas High School. His bid was .898 cents per gallon.

Purchase of $431.72 worth of books for secondary grades, from Bristol Borough was approved.

A letter from L. H. Snyder, acting state chief of secondary education, which granted approval of the extension of the Delhaas High School program to grade 11 was read. This program is expected to be extended to include grade 12 for the 1953-54 school year.

And behind the activity to get school matters straightened out before the opening of the Fall term lay the threat of further delays in construction of the Delhaas addition.

The strike tying up heavy construction equipment at the school is well into its second week. However, in the absence of workers to operate the equipment the power-shovel owner himself has been working at the site in order to retain some semblance of a schedule which will meet the expected date of completion of the addition.

In contrast to the size of her own home, Mrs. Bakeoven told of a neighbor whose four-room bungalow is also assessed at the same value as the Bakeoven home. Another neighbor has had his assessment raised from $2500 to $3600.

As the residents feel that too much inequality exists in the county program, they plan to attend a mass protest meeting next Monday night at O'Tremaski Hall, Street road. Individual taxpayers will file personal appeals and then will also file a joint appeal.

The rash of flying saucers,
which now appears to be a manifestation of the heat wave, has largely obscured some ominous news from Russia by way of American news agencies in London. Briefly, Russia is supposed to be on the verge of exploding the world's first H-bomb, which scientists estimate would have a destructive force 100 times more powerful than the largest atom bomb in existence.

A distillation of a mass of rumor, fact, and intelligence reports, indicates, according to the London story, that the Russians have almost a two-year lead on the United States in developing the H-bomb, thanks to the defections of the British scientists Fuchs and Pontecorvo. The reports also indicate that the commanding lead this country once held in the A-bomb race is now all but wiped out.

Intelligence reports say that Russia now has a minimum stockpile of 100 A-bombs plus another 500 smaller bombs which could be used tactically. She also has rocket artillery—projectiles built to carry atom warheads—radio active "gas", a ground to air anti-aircraft rocket, and a cosmic ray projector which can fuse the metal part of a plane at a range of 15 miles.

Reports such as these are open to good healthy skepticism, but they should not be underestimated. With the exception of the atomic weapons, it might be noted that Hitler's scientists had many of these weapons on drawing boards at the end of World War II. The Russians, who never indulged themselves to the point of a military letdown, could have gone on with development without losing a stride.

But perhaps the most worrisome report is news that Russia is working night and day on the development of six-engined jet bombers capable of carrying atomic weapons to any spot in this country, delivering them from a height of eight miles in any kind of weather, and returning to base. Russia's strategic bomber force at present is reportedly composed of about 1,000 four-engined bombers which are largely copies of U. S. B-29s and B-50s. But it is known that the reds have been conducting air refueling experiments to increase the present range of these planes.

Some say television will kill national political conventions. Or vice versa.

ital, which is 3 1/2 hours by direct flight from Paris.
At some of the island's smaller hotels, such as the Cala D'Or, perched on the edge of a sandy-beached cove of crystal clear water, one can get a room, bath and three appetizing meals for $4.50 per day, or even as low as $3 for a small room without bath.
The drawback of these smaller hotels is that the sanitation is not always all that could be desired. But, generally, it is on a par with that of some of the moderate-priced tourist-type hotels in the big European cities.

In addition to the inexpensive and picturesque qualities of Mallorca, there is also far less tendency here to treat the American as a sucker to be soaked than elsewhere on the tourist trails of Europe. This apparent lack of greed is not because the country is prosperous. Spain is one of the poorest nations in Europe. Nor is it because the press of the Franco dictatorship is renowned for preaching pro-Americanism. It is due primarily to the proud dignity innate in the Spanish character.

Evidence of this can be found among the poorest, semi-literate toilers in out of the way places. For example, the car in which I was driving across the island from Cala D'Or to the popular play-town of Formentor blew a tire. It was a sun-scorched spot on a bumpy back road, beyond reach of the coolly caressing sea breezes.
A peasant, plodding in a wheat field, witnessed the exasperating predicament in which two American friends and my family found ourselves. He approached, bid us "Buenas Dias" (good day), and without further ado proceeded to help.

It seemed natural that a Spanish farmhand should wish to take advantage of an unexpected opportunity to earn a few pesetas. For half an hour he sweated in the sweltering sun, changing the tire, unjacking the car and restoring equipment and luggage to the rear compartment. When offered a tip, for his aid, the peasant smilingly shook his head and backed away. He was not being coy. He expected nothing. It required considerable persuasion to induce him to accept the folded bill thrust in his hand.

Spaniards have a reputation for disliking foreigners. Three weeks in Mallorca showed no signs that the allegation of this traditional trait is warranted. Not, at least, in respect to Americans.

The Spanish people are not as effusive as the French or Italians, but one is conscious of a deep sense of sincerity about their friendliness. Whether it be a shopkeeper in Palma, a fisherman in Farayo, or a peasant in LaPuebla, the attitude is politely pleasant.

One of the most outstanding impressions of a visit to this Spanish island is the apparent contentment of the people. In comparison with American living standards, they are poverty-stricken. A sternly authoritarian government denies them the political freedoms of the western conception of democracy. They live a drab, hard-working life.

Nevertheless, there is a serenity in the faces of the peasants, a calm composure in their demeanor which seems to reflect a tranquility of the soul. Nor are they devoid of the spirit of gaiety. The 20-year-old, comely, kitchen-maid in our hotel, who earns the equivalent of $1 per week plus board and keep, was singing most of her dish-washing day. At the village fiestas, there is a light abandon about the gay and graceful folk dances.

It made one wonder what constitutes contentment. For these people, it is not wealth. They have none, and little hope of ever acquiring any. It is not the creature comforts that an average American farmer takes for granted as necessities of life. Few peasant's dwellings have running water, much less bathrooms, refrigerators, radios or cars.

They till the soil in much the same primitive fashion that the Moorish conquerors of this island did 12 centuries ago. Their basic diet is bread, rice, black beans and fish. Once or twice a week they enjoy pork, seldom other meat. A laborer, such as a bricklayer, earns the equivalent of approximately 50 cents per day. This is barely sufficient for subsistence.

In this climate of virtually perpetual summer, clothing requirements are limited to gingham dresses for women, cotton trousers and shirts of men.

There is little political consciousness among the peasants. They show no interest in politics, prefer not to be bothered by such problems.

As for the possibility of war and the great power struggle between Soviet Russia and the western powers, there is apathy born of ignorance of the potential implications for them.

Mallorca was spared the ravages of the Civil War that swept the Spanish mainland 16 years ago. Today, the average Mallorquin ekes out a peaceful existence, oblivious to the anxieties of the restless, turbulent outside world.

Delhaas School Board Postpones Its Decision On Teacher Salary Boost

and Penna. State Teachers College was employed as Physical Science and Mathematics Teacher; Violet D. DiNunzio of Bristol, a Graduate of Temple University was hired as a Science Teacher; and Esther Roppek a graduate of N.Y.U. will teach Physical Education.

Paul Voltz, low bidder, was awarded the contract for supplying number 5 fuel oil to Delhaas High School. His bid was .898 cents per gallon.

Purchase of $431.72 worth of books for secondary grades, from Bristol Borough was approved.
A letter from L. H. Snyder, acting state chief of secondary education, which granted approval of the extension of the Delhaas High School program to grade 11 was read. This program is expected to be extended to include grade 12 for the 1953-54 school year.

And behind the activity to get school matters straightened out before the opening of the Fall term lay the threat of further delays in construction of the Delhaas addition.

The strike tying up heavy construction equipment at the school is well into its second week. However, in the absence of workers to operate the equipment the power-shovel owner himself has been working at the site in order to retain some semblance of a schedule which will meet the expected date of completion of the addition.

extra large home, containing about nine rooms and a huge attic, is now assessed at $2400. When all the finishing touches are put on it, it is not yet completed, she dreads what the reassessment may be.

In contrast to the size of her own home, Mrs. Bakeoven told of a neighbor whose four-room bungalow is also assessed at the same value as the Bakeoven home. Another neighbor has had his assessment raised from $2500 to $3600.

As the residents feel that too much inequality exists in the county program, they plan to attend a mass protest meeting next Monday night at O'Tremski Hall, Street road. Individual taxpayers will file personal appeals and then will also file a joint appeal.

Cadets To Compete In Legion Contest

Post Cadets are at present the state champions having taken the title from the McCall Cadets. This year the Bracken Cadets have won over both these corps in the last five contests in which they have competed.

The cadets are also known to be the oldest Jr. Drum and Bugle Corps in the American Legion group and received the title of State Champions in 1931, '32, '33, and '34. Being reorganized in 1947 under the command of Arthur Bracco they have attended four state conventions and placed second in four consecutive years, twice in Pittsburgh and twice in Philadelphia. The cadets have been working hard to get the title of "State Champions" back to the city of Bristol.

On Saturday the cadets will participate in the American Legion State Parade representing the state of Pennsylvania which will bring the convention to a close.

Auxiliary Has Farewell Party for Mrs. Orlowski

HULMEVILLE, Aug. 7 — A farewell party held Monday evening was a surprise for the guest of honor, Mrs. Frank Orlowski, of Hulmeville. The function took place in William Penn Fire Co. station, it being arranged by the Ladies Auxiliary of the fire company. Mr. and Mrs. Orlowski will, on Monday next, move to Oklahoma, to reside with their daughter.

Mrs. Orlowski was presented with a large, decorated cake, inscribed with the words "Good Luck". Ice cream, home-made cake, coffee and tea were served to 17. The guest of honor was given a pin as a farewell gift.

Prizes for games were won by: Mrs. Margaret Mitchell, Mrs. Frank McCabe, Mrs. Harold Daseburg, Mrs. George Bilger, and Mrs. Samuel Black.

Trevoze Man Unhurt As Car Hits Utility Pole

BENSALEM TWP., Aug. 7 — A Trevoze man narrowly escaped injury this morning when the machine he was operating ran off the roadway and crashed into a utility pole.

John A. Ludwig, 24, Forest and Walnut avenues, Trevoze, was operating a 1946 coupe north on Street road, near Mechanicsville road, at 4:10 when the car ran off the roadway, and struck a utility pole, which broke off three feet from the ground.

No injuries were reported. Damage to the machine was estimated to be $300.

Bensalem Police Chief George Rentz investigated.

Plant Foreman Held As Molester of Baby Sitter

SELLERSVILLE, Aug. 7 — A foreman in a Sellersville gauge manufacturing plant was held without bail in Bucks county on six morals charges following complaint of a 15-year-old school girl employed in his home as a baby sitter.

The accused man was booked as Glen Frederick, 24, of Argus, near Quakertown. He is married and the father of two children.

Justice of the Peace W. Lee Wilhelm at Sellersville ordered him committed to the Bucks county jail at Doylestown pending a hearing on a petition filed with a county court seeking his release on bail.

According to County Detective William L. Stackhouse, who arrested the man at his home late Tuesday night, the teen-aged girl had been employed to watch his children.

The girl's name is being withheld by authorities.

Bensalem Alumni Plans September Meeting

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 7 — The board of directors of Bensalem Township High School Alumni Association held a meeting last evening in the high school building. Current bills were voted paid. Correspondence received since the last meeting was read by William Bracke, president, who presided.

The main business of the evening concerned the general alumni meeting, the first of the coming term to be held Sept. 12. The agenda for this meeting was outlined. Entertainment chairman, Miss Cecelia Juliff and her committee are completing the program that will be announced later. Notices will be sent to alumni members early in September.

Election of officers for the coming year will take place at the Sept. meeting. The board decided not to have a nominating committee and that all nominations will be made from the floor that night. The meeting will be open to all Bensalem graduates but only those whose dues are paid will be eligible to vote. Dues will be received prior to the meeting from those interested in joining the Association.

Classes will be asked to have a representative and an alternate to represent them on the board for the coming year. The responsibility of this will rest with their present representatives seeing that interested and available ones from the classes get a chance to serve and to see that replacements are filled, where existing representatives can't serve next year.

Miss Barbara Aches, class of 1952, accepted temporary chairmanship of refreshments for the Sept. meeting.

The board reversed a decision made earlier in the year and with further clarification from Mr. Shellenberger, superintendent, it was decided not to accept anyone with a "letter of credit" but a diploma will be required for membership in the Alumni Association.

Scripture Reading: Psalm 90

No comment can reflect adequately the impression of grandeur one gets from this psalm; it strikes a cosmic note. It has been translated into a metrical version of the hymn of Isaac Watts, "O God, our help in ages past; our hope for years to come."

"We offer thee, O Lord, our praises and thanksgivings for all thy mercies multiplied unto us, more than we can number and far greater than we can express. More especially do we praise thee for those spiritual blessings which thou hast revealed in the life of thy dear Son. Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which thou, O God, hast prepared for those who love thee. Give us grace to love thee more and more, till we come to thine everlasting kingdom; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

KNEE-HIGH BALL SERIES TO BE AT DOYLESTOWN

The Second Annual Pennsylvania "Knee-High" Baseball Championship Tournament will be conducted at Doylestown, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, August 14th, 15th, and 16th, with 10 competing teams from various sections of Pennsylvania. At the present writing several regional champions, consisting of Lancaster, Tamaqua, Beaver and Burgetstown, have all been qualified for the championship play-off. Other regional play-offs are still going on and the district winners will not be known until later this week.

The "Knee-High" baseball program in the state is sponsored by the Penna. Department of the American Legion, although many participating teams are sponsored by Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs. This year in Penna. there have been 1,000 "Knee-High" teams, representing 18,000 boys, taking part in this baseball program.

The 10 regional championship teams will be housed and fed at the National Agricultural College, two miles East of Doylestown, for the duration of the play-offs. The borough of Doylestown has the welcome mat out for these boys and their families. The town will be decorated for the occasion and baseball jerseys will be presented to the members of all teams in the tournament. The boys will have the full use of the youth center, swimming pool, movies, etc., while they are here for the play-offs. Most of these teams travel to the play-offs by bus and many many carloads of parents and followers come to games to support their favorite teams. The ages of all boys on these teams are 13, 14 and 15.

years. Big League baseball scouts, both from the American and National leagues, will be on hand for the entire tournament to observe the play technique of the boys.

There will be both afternoon and evening games, starting at 2:15 p. m. and 6:15 p. m., on the Doylestown War Memorial Field, the Doylestown Community Field and the National Agricultural College Field.

RAIN PREVENTS BALL GAMES HERE LAST NIGHT

Softball and baseball games of this vicinity, scheduled for last night, were called because of rain. The Kaiser-Fifth Ward game will be played tomorrow night on Memorial field.

Tonight's schedule will see Franklin meeting the Auto Boys on Memorial field and Hunter-Wilson playing Philco on the Hunter-Wilson diamond in softball.

In a Bristol Boys League baseball game, the Eagles will play V. F. W. on Leedom's field.

Decide to Hold Celebration Each Year for The Area

Commerce and the Lower Bucks County Junior Chamber of Commerce.

It was announced that over 600 persons had visited Sutton's Museum during the historical and antique day celebration. Thomas R. Janes, treasurer, made a report of the amount of money collected.

Pottery plates, suitably engraved, were awarded to the various winners. The plates were given out by Henry Below, owner of the Pennsylvania Pottery. Receiving the prizes for the communities were: Bensalem Township, Richard Bracken; Morrisville, John Burns; Bristol, William Fry; Bristol Township, Harold VanWert; Falls Township and Fairless Hills, Mrs. Jessie Mabury.

It was announced that an error had placed the Cornwells Fire Company in first place for Municipal Activities. The winner should have been the Edgely Fire Company as Cornwells did not participate in this year's affair.

The labor and industry award was received by Paul Tomlinson while the prize for being selected "Queen of Lower Bucks County" was given to Miss Joan Marie Parr by Mr. Midouhas. Miss Parr also received a plate for being selected "Miss Bristol."

All members of the committees who aided in the celebration were given plates as souvenirs. Those not present at last night's meeting are asked to contact Mr. Schmidt or Mr. Midouhas for their souvenir.

Local residents who have been lucky enough to win one of the prizes awarded as part of the "Greater Lower Bucks County Week" might be interested in some of the history and art technique of it.

The awards, manufactured by the Pennsylvania Pottery, consist of plates, wall pockets and plaques made by the sgraffito technique, a method of pottery making which goes back to early colonial history and which has reached such artistic value that today examples of original pottery using this form are quite valuable. So, those of you who won one of these items from the pottery have an article you can well be proud of—a 20th century reproduction of an early Pennsylvania form.

The work done on these items is called slip-engraving, which consists in covering the ware completely with a thin coating or engobe of slip (liquid clay), through which the ornamental devices are scratched with a pointed instrument, to show the darker clay beneath. In a general way, true slip-decoration is usually distinguished by light-colored ornamentation on a darker ground, while sgraffito work is characterized by dark designs in a white or yellowish field. In the former variety the decorations generally appear in slight relief; in the latter they are depressed or intagliated.

The principal decorative motif in the early work in both Europe and America was the tulip, which was considered the symbol of love back in ancient Persia.

In Pennsylvania this ware was being made as early as 1733, as indicated by a date on a plate in the collection of George H. Danner, Manheim. As early as the middle of the 18th century a number of American potters in Bucks county began the manufacture of this ware, having adopted the famous German methods, even to the extent of employing the tulip as a decorative motif and using English inscriptions to beautify their more ornate productions.

Actually the reverse of slip-decoration, where the designs are in intaglio, is what is known as sgraffito or scratched work. By this process the slip cup is dispensed with and the ornamentation, instead of appearing in relief or imbedded in the level surface, is depressed in the clay. After the plates have been shaped over the mold, the upper concave surface is entirely covered with a coating of white slip and through this layer the designs are cut or etched by means of a sharpened stick to bring out the bright color of the under stratum of clay.

To give the Bristol area public an idea of the importance of the prizes they have won, here are two descriptions with accompanying prices of articles on sale at the Parke-Bernet Galleries, New York City.

The first is a large sgraffito plate, showing tulips emerging from an urn, with an inscription in German. "Since no poultice can heal me, hurry away with me out of this world of sorrow into the beautiful tent of Heaven." The price of this plate is $425.

Another pie plate, with two large tulips growing from a two-handled urn, and with the cream slip cut through to the red earthenware, is listed at $350.

The prizes offered here are not as valuable as that, but they are made with the same technique as the expensive items. The Pennsylvania Pottery articles have on them the William Penn coat of arms and two dates: 1683, Pennsylvania erection; and 1952, year of the first annual celebrations in lower Bucks county. The awards are unusual, and equipped with the knowledge of their origin, they should become meaningful possessions of the people who won them.

David Elwell, son of Mrs. Marion Elwell, has returned from Abington hospital, where he underwent an operation on his leg. Five years ago, David had an unfortunate accident while playing at school and it was necessary to have his right leg amputated below the knee. David is now able to participate with other children in all their sports. He learned to swim several summers ago at Camp Daddy, the Pennsylvania Camp for Crippled Children, and this summer he has been bicycling a great deal, which has caused his leg to grow, thus making it necessary to have part of the bone cut back. Last year and the present summer he has been enrolled at Camp Dolington, which is operated for eight weeks for children in the surrounding community.

Mrs. William DiPasquale and daughter, Marlene, and Miss Irma Mazzocchi spent last week at Seaside, N. J.

NEWTOWN

David Elwell, son of Mrs. Marion Elwell, has returned from Abington hospital, where he underwent an operation on his leg. Five years ago, David had an unfortunate accident while playing at school and it was necessary to have his right leg amputated below the knee. David is now able to participate with other children in all their sports. He learned to swim several summers ago at Camp Daddy, the Pennsylvania Camp for Crippled Children, and this summer he has been bicycling a great deal, which has caused his leg to grow, thus making it necessary to have part of the bone cut back. Last year and the present summer he has been enrolled at Camp Dolington, which is operated for eight weeks for children in the surrounding community.

Mrs. Louise Holzworth was guest of honor at a birthday party on her 86th birthday anniversary at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Irwin Bastedo, in Trenton, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Leedom and daughter, "Kay", were weekend guests of Mrs. Leedom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leslie, Essex, Md.

Sandra Kitchen was a guest on Sunday of Miss Jean Church, Washington Crossing.

Mrs. Chester Ely and Mrs. Morris Savidge, of the canteen committee, Newtown district, American Red Cross, on Monday assisted the Bloodmobile Unit at the Naval Aviation Supply Depot at Lawndale.

LEVITTOWN POLICE HAVE RADIO HOOK-UPCars Now Connected With Bristol Twp., Bensalem
Twp. and Tullytown

LEADS TO EFFICIENCY

By Staff Reporter
LEVITTOWN, Aug. 7 — An announcement by George Sottung, police coordinator for the Levittown area, reveals that the three cars used by the local police now have radio hook-up.

For some time now the Bristol township police have been hooked up to the Bucks County Rescue Squad, providing more efficient, rapid service to the local area in emergency. Now, with the radio system also installed in the Levittown cars, it is possible for police to maintain contact with each other all the way from the Philadelphia city line through Tullytown.

The Bristol township police, previously to this announcement has been hooked up to the Bensalem police through the Rescue Squad, and this final contact with Levittown now unites Bensalem and Bristol township, Tullytown and Levittown.

Levittown, upon the beginning of construction and development, was given its own police service by the cooperation of two local units, Bristol township and Tullytown. The chiefs of police of the two districts are Joseph Sender, township, and John W. Kratz, Tullytown. George Sottung, president of Bristol township commissioners, selected to coordinate the two groups, has an office in the exhibit area along route 13.

Since the new development presently lies within Tullytown and Bristol township boundaries, the police chiefs alternate in charge monthly. Officers on both forces are responsible to the chief in charge for the month.

In case of emergency, local residents can call Bristol 6050 to get immediate response.

Average elevation of the U. S. is 2,500 feet.

A Series of Articles Introducing the New Residents of Levittown to The Community.

By Staff Reporter
LEVITTOWN, Aug. 7 — An interesting couple who though a little older than most couples moving into this development, are making a new home for themselves here are Richard and Rose Barsky, 121 Stonybrook Drive.

Barsky is originally from Philadelphia, his wife from Trenton; they came to Stonybrook from Trenton, where Barsky had been in the jewelry and clothing business for himself.

In their home decorating techniques the Barskys are using a modernistic trend which, of course, fits in so well with the type of home the Levitt corporation constructs. Lined oak furniture is used in the bedrooms and presents an attractive appearance. The small room off the living room will be used as a den.

Barsky himself collects Lenoxware pieces. Lenoxware is made in Trenton and is quite famous as it is used in the White House in Washington. Former President Franklin D. Roosevelt ordered china service there for use during his administration. Barsky has two pitchers that are shaped to form the head of Benjamin Franklin; he also has a small bust of Shakespeare.

Mrs. Barsky's hobby is flowers. She loves growing them and making floral arrangements for the house. Unfortunately, neither of the Barskys have been too busy recently at their hobbies because Barsky has been ill from a stroke for some time. He is just now getting back on his feet, and of course Mrs. Barsky has been serving in nursing capacities.

Former Bristol and Feasterville residents are now occupants of 127 Stonybrook Drive. They are Albert and Jane Eastburn and their two young children.

The Eastburns were one of the first Bristol area families scheduled to take title to one of the new homes in Levittown, and while awaiting their home, they had gone from Bristol to Feasterville to Mrs. Eastburn's home, where their second child, David, one month old, was born. Their older child is Barbara Jean, a year and a half old.

Eastburn is an industrial engineer at Roebing, N. J., where he has been for two years. He had an engineering degree from Lehigh University, Bethlehem. In his off-duty hours from work, Eastburn also does general broadcasting for radio station WBUD, Morrisville.

Mrs. Eastburn was a registered nurse previous to her marriage.

but she has not practiced at it since, except in the care given to her own two children.

Eastburn's father was the former minister at an Eddington church.
